

A close-up, low-angle shot of a Christmas tree branch. The branch is dark green and covered in dense, needle-like foliage. Numerous warm, yellow-gold lights are strung along the branch, creating a bokeh effect with soft, out-of-focus circles of light. The lighting is warm and festive, typical of holiday decorations.

A close-up, slightly blurred photograph of a festive gathering. In the foreground, a hand holds a tall, slender champagne flute filled with a golden liquid. To the right, another hand holds a wider glass, also containing a golden liquid. Above the glasses, a hand holds a lit sparkler, which is emitting bright, golden sparks. The background is dark and out of focus, showing other people and warm, bokeh light sources, suggesting an indoor celebration at night.
